Ship in Distress Where Another Is Feared Lost

British Steamer Cydonia Forced by Heavy Seas to Turn Back on Course—Rescue Vessels Unable to Find Trace of Freighter Saxilby or Crew in Lifeboats

CORK, Irish Free State, Nov. 16 (AP).—The British steamer Cydonia, of 3,517 tons, said in a message tonight she was in difficulty several hundred miles west of Ireland. The captain advised that the vessel, en route to Montreal with a cargo of coal, encountered heavy seas and would turn back to Cork.

HOPE IS ABANDONED
VALENTIA, Irish Free State, Nov. 16 (AP).—Hope was virtually abandoned today of rescuing the twenty-seven men in the crew of the Irish Coast, whence the last signal came, without finding a trace of the Saxilby or her lifeboats.

NO WRECKAGE SEEN
The Cunarder Benlue, the Dutch steamer Roehdyk, and the British freighter Manchester Regent reported they sighted no wreckage and that they were forced to give up their rescue attempts. The only hope that the crew of the Saxilby might still be alive was based on the possibility that the high wind may have driven the lifeboats and their parent ship far from the spot whence the Saxilby sent out her last distress call.

NO IMMEDIATE DANGER
Meanwhile, relatives of the twenty-eight men in the crew of the St. Quentin, another British freighter, helpless after she lost her steering gear in the same stormy region of the Atlantic, were relieved to hear that the ship was in no immediate danger.

In a message to the owners of the St. Quentin, the captain said a tug from Cork was expected to tow the vessel to land.

CHECK DESCENT OF U.S. DOLLAR

American Funds Touch Record Low During Day of Wide Fluctuations

MONTREAL, Nov. 16 (CP).—Speculators yesterday threw a line to the sinking United States dollar, checked its descent and hauled it upward a few points from the day's low quotations.

For the third successive day the Washington Government left the price of new-mined gold at $33.66 an ounce. Nevertheless foreign currencies made gains against the American dollar.

The Canadian dollar sold at one time at a premium of 5 9-16 cents, but slipped back at the close to a premium of 2 1-2 cents, a gain of 7-8-cent over the previous close.

In Montreal the American dollar dropped to a discount of 5 cents before rallying to close at a discount of 2 1-4 cents in Canadian funds.

WETS MAY KEEP DRY FOR AWHILE

Icelandic Gov't Resigns Before Vote for Repeal of Prohibition—Is Given Effect

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Nov. 16 (AP).—Even though the Icelandic government was not sure today whether it would be wet or dry, the government of Premier Agnar Sveinsson resigned without taking steps for the repeal of prohibition, in a recent referendum on which 15,884 voted in favor of lifting the ban on alcoholic liquors and 11,624 voted against.

It was considered doubtful whether there will be time to effect repeal during the present session of Parliament.

The government's resignation followed a vote of censure of the Minister of Justice.

MINE PRESIDENT DIES
CAPE TOWN, Nov. 16 (CP).—Sir Francis Drummond Chaplin, former president of the Transvaal Chamber of Mines, died at his home here today at the age of sixty-seven years. He was correspondent for The Times and other London newspapers before entering the gold-mining industry at the turn of the century.

Blonde Lady and Two Bold Bandits Sought by Police

Also Seek Recovery of Some $600 Stolen From Royal Bank Branch in Vancouver—Manager G. E. Devereaux in His Fifth Hold-Up for Four Years

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP).—Widespread search was being conducted tonight by Vancouver and British Columbia Provincial Police for two bank bandits and a blonde woman who helped them to escape after they had held up a branch of the Royal Bank of Canada shortly after noon today and fled with approximately $600.

G. E. Devereaux, the bank manager, expressed the opinion the men were those who held up a Bank of Montreal branch here Monday when more than $3,500 was stolen.

AT POINT OF GUNS
Devereaux and the teller, J. Watkins, were alone in the bank when the bandits marched in. They were covered by guns and forced to open the safe at the rear of the bank, after which they were put in a back room and the bandits fled with money from the safe.

Speeding from the scene of the crime, the bandits' car was driven several blocks away, the gunmen stopped, tore off the licence plates and threw them into the bushes. They then drove around the block and, when they returned, another car driven by a blonde woman was moving slowly along the street.

CHARGE CARS
The bandits' car was driven alongside the woman's sedan, a black bag presumably containing the loot, was thrown in, and both cars sped away.

One Drowned in Crossing the Bar

SEATTLE, Nov. 16 (AP).—Capitulating on crossing the Coquille River bar, in Western Oregon, late today, the motor launch Fairway hurled its four occupants into the water, and only three were rescued, coast-guard headquarters were notified tonight.

The boat was carried ashore later, and the beach was being patrolled for the body of the person lost.

Policy Upheld But Authority to Issue Order Is Questioned

U.S. Federal Judge Sustains Indictment for Gold Hoarding But Disallows President Roosevelt the Power of Secretary of Treasury

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (AP).—President Roosevelt's anti-gold hoarding policy was upheld today by Federal Judge John M. Woolsey, but the judge ruled further that the Secretary of the Treasury, and not the President, should have issued the order of August 28 directing hoarders to return their gold.

Judge Woolsey gave his ruling in sustaining an indictment, charging Frederick B. Campbell, a lawyer-capitalist, with failure to report possession of twenty-seven bars of gold, valued at $200,375.

DEMURRER UPHOLD
The court upheld Campbell's demurrer to one aspect of a superseding indictment, charging him with failure to return the gold to the Federal Reserve Bank.

In sustaining the demurrer, Judge Woolsey ruled that Congress had vested in the Secretary of the Treasury, and not in the President, the right to issue the order calling for the return of gold.

Two Held by Police Confess to Slaying of Kidnapped Youth

Brooke Hart, Son of Wealthy San Jose Merchant, Knocked Unconscious, Bound and Thrown in Bay, Abductors Tell Police—Angry Mobs Storm Courthouse

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 16 (AP).—Brooke Hart, twenty-two-year-old son of a wealthy San Jose merchant, was slain a few hours after he was kidnapped last Thursday, authorities revealed today, while the two men who they said had confessed the crime were held in a San Francisco jail safe from the angry mobs of citizens milling about the courthouse here.

Youth's Kidnappers Admit Murder
Sheriff William J. Emig, made the announcement through Louis O'Neil, prominent attorney, political leader, and named as go-between by Alex Hart, the father, and the kidnappers.

THROWN INTO BAY
The confession, which authorities said was signed by Thomas H. Thurmond, who was jerked from a telephone booth last night by a mob as he was making arrangements with Hart for the payment of $40,000 ransom, said that Jack Holmes and he had taken the youth to the San Mateo County Bridge, hit him over the head twice with a brick, bound his arms with wire and threw him into San Francisco Bay.

"We thought it would be easier with him out of the way," R. E. Vetterli, of the division of investigation of the Department of Justice, quoted the men as saying. "We didn't want to bother with lugging him around the countryside, and we didn't want to take the chance of his escaping and giving us away. So we just bumped him off."

Officers said Holmes had signed a similar confession. Throughout the day, even before the confessions were made public, just after noon, grapping for the Continued on Page 2, Column 3

DISARMAMENT HOPES REVIVED

Prospects Seen in European Centres for Revival of Conversations

LONDON, Nov. 17 (CP).—Hope that disarmament conversations may be resumed after the withdrawal of German troops from the Rhine was revived yesterday in four European centres.

Authoritative circles in London said Great Britain is ready to listen to Chancellor Hitler's arms demands, and Sir John Simon, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, was instructed to proceed to Geneva to survey possibilities of beginning new conversations, in which Germany could join.

FOUR-POWER CONFERENCE
There was talk that Italy, France, Great Britain and Germany might send representatives to a four-power conference to be conducted perhaps in Rome or London on a date not yet chosen.

Sir John Simon is due to confer with Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour, of France, in Geneva on Saturday, and it was said that a new French arms proposal, with an apparent lessening of the tension between Germany and France, had accelerated disarmament hopes.

The French Government was represented authoritatively as dealing frank talks with Chancellor Hitler in an effort to halt rearmament.

SHIRTS IN NORTHERN IRELAND

CULLLOVILLE, Armagh, North of Ireland, Nov. 16 (AP).—Seven members of General Eoin O'Duffy's Blue Shirts were seized in a dance hall here today, stripped of their shirts and forced to walk in the nude six miles to Carrickmacross, in the Irish Free State.

Sues for Share of Profits of Venture in Whisky-Running

Tale of "Merchandising" Enterprise Unfolded in Vancouver Court—Accounting for Sum of $75,000 Asked for in Counterclaim

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16 (CP).—Story of a whisky-running venture on the high seas involving alleged sale of some 2,000 cases of liquor in Portland, Ore., was told in Superior Court today by Barney B. Perlman, merchandise broker, of Portland.

Perlman claims an accounting from Pacific Forwarding Company, Ltd., Frank W. Eccles, described as a local service club. In the past month, the mint was forced to issue 2,500,000 coppers, swelling to 254,000,000 the number in circulation.

Officials of the Department of Finance have searched in vain for a possible explanation of the heavy demand. It might be the odd sales put on by retail stores in an effort to stimulate buying, or it might be any of a dozen explanations.

SHIP SINKS IN ST. LAWRENCE

Freighter Scotsman Turns Turtle After Bucking Ice—Crew Reaches Shore

COTEAU, Que., Nov. 16 (CP).—The freighter Scotsman, which for many years plied on the Ottawa-Montreal run, sank today about half a mile west of the dock here on the St. Lawrence River, while on voyage from Montreal to Pictou, Ont. The crew of fourteen men, including one woman, were able to save themselves by jumping into a lifeboat and rowing to shore.

The Scotsman was on her third run since she had been taken over by the Montreal & Cornwall Navigation Company of Cornwall, P.E.I., previously, she handled freight traffic on the Ottawa River.

Steaming from Montreal yesterday she bucked in all the ways and encountered particular difficulties in the Soulanges Canal, where it was more than an inch thick. At Coteau, she seemed in good condition, but when about half a mile west of the dock, at Coteau Lake, it was noticed she was listing badly to port.

WATER POURING IN
Capt. Raoul Lalonde, of Cornwall, went below with the engineer and discovered water was pouring in by the stern. The Scotsman's boat was to be turned and headed for shore, but before she could be beached she took an alarming list, and the crew were forced to the lifeboat.

Scarcely had the small boat been launched when the Scotsman turned turtle in about fifteen feet of water, with only a section of her keel showing above the surface. The ship was valued at about $10,000 and was insured for $5,000.

Donat Hamel, the mate, froze both arms while rowing to shore. Several of the crew complained of frost-nipped ears and fingers after they reached shore. The ship was about a quarter of a mile from shore when she sank.

TELLS WHY GROUP TO CROSS FLOOR

Samuel Liberals Opposed to Almost All Government Policies Except in Indian Affairs

LONDON, Nov. 16 (CP).—In an address to the nation tonight, Sir Herbert Samuel told why his group of thirty or so Liberals would cross the floor of the House of Commons and sit with the Opposition.

On almost all matters, except Indian affairs, Sir Herbert said, his group found itself compelled to adopt an attitude of criticism toward the National Government. He instanced policies of the Government regarding unemployment, housing and agriculture. He said his Liberals were profoundly dissatisfied with the course of events in disarmament efforts, the "most vital issue of the day," in which they believed the Cabinet has displayed lack of zeal and its negotiators lack of skill.

TRADE VOLUME IS INCREASING

Canada's Commerce Continues to Show Steady Improvement

OTTAWA, Nov. 16 (CP).—Canada's trade volume continued its upward movement during October, according to figures released today by the Department of National Revenue, the total volume of $101,303,153 being $7,582,533 in excess of the corresponding month a year ago. The export balance of approximately $19,000,000 varied very little from that of October, 1932.

Eight of the twelve principal items of export showed increases and four dropped.

Most spectacular rise was in exports of unmanufactured nickel, which rose from $600,443 in October a year ago to $2,435,472 last month, an increase of 406 per cent.

OTHER EXPORTS

Export of planks and boards was up 208 per cent; increase of 100 per cent in export of partially manufactured copper; 220 per cent in meat exports, and 143 per cent in fish featured the upward surge. Wheat flour and woodpulp exports also showed marked increases.

Export of wheat declined from $21,472,209 to $15,841,182. For the seven months of the current fiscal year Canada's trade total $566,898,637, an increase of $17,461,973 over the corresponding seven months of 1932. Exports constituted $328,622,856 and imports $241,275,079, or an export balance of $87,346,479.

Man Shoots Way Out of Police Trap

CHICAGO, Nov. 16 (AP).—John Dillinger, wanted in Indiana for questioning in connection with the Michigan City, Ind., prison break, last night shot his way out of a police trap in the Albany Park district of Chicago and escaped after a five-mile chase through Chicago streets. Four squads of Chicago police joined in the chase which began at an office on the northwest side, where the authorities had learned earlier in the evening Dillinger might be found.

Agree Not to Resort to Force

BERLIN, Nov. 16 (AP).—Chancellor Hitler and the new Polish minister, Joseph Lipski, agreed in a conference yesterday both governments should take up immediately direct negotiations on all questions affecting mutual relations.

An official communiqué said also that Germany and Poland will refrain from resorting to force, so that the peace of Europe may be maintained. Lipski's visit was his first to the Chancellor.

Mallek's Mystifying Marine Monster

WHEN Mallek's ready-to-wear and furrier staff conceived the idea of creating a replica of Amy Cadborosaurus, Victoria's world famous sea-serpent, the creators hardly expected to create the interest that followed in the path of the hoax. The above pictures show the "sea-serpent" in and out of the water before and after the sensational "capture" off Ogden Point breakwater, Wednesday morning. Thousands of Victorians enjoyed the joke and viewed the man-made creature after it had been hauled ashore on the Dallas waterfront. The real "Amy" was reported to have been sighted off Clover Point a week ago by Wilfred Woodward, 3443 Cook Street, and Morris Phil 1587 Fairfield Road, while the two were taking a dip in the waters of Ross Bay. They say they got a good view of "Amy" and support others that it was fully fifty feet long.

TRAPPED BY A TURKEY

BYRON, Cal., Nov. 16 (CP).—Thanksgiving turkey jumped out of R. J. McDonald's automobile and ran through a cement culvert pipe.

McDonald started through the pipe after the gobble, got about as far as his hips and then couldn't go forward or backward. A truck driver pulled him out.

JUNIOR TEAMS GO TO TORONTO

Boys and Girls From British Columbia Will Take Part in Judging at Fair

In co-operation with the Canadian Council on Boys and Girls' Clubs, the British Columbia Department of Agriculture is sending four boys and two girls to Toronto to compete in Junior Judging events. The two girls from the Vernon district constitute the poultry judging team; the two boys from Kamloops and two from the Fraser Valley represent calf clubs and swine clubs, respectively.

The teams are being accompanied by R. G. Sutton, district agriculturalist, New Westminster, and will leave today.

There are in British Columbia this year eleven swine clubs with eighty-two members, who have reared 164 hogs; there are twenty-seven calf clubs with 247 members, each of whom has raised one calf. In the twenty-nine poultry clubs there are 239 members.

In addition to the annual national judging event at Toronto, in which British Columbia boys and girls are participating for the third consecutive year, picked teams of junior judges have for a number of years represented the province at the International Boys and Girls' 4-H Club Judging event at Portland, Oregon, where they have won honours for Canada against highly-trained junior judges from the eight Western States.

PROPERTY TAXES TO BE DISCUSSED

Victoria Real Estate Board Will Hold Important Meeting at Noon Today

An interesting meeting of the Victoria Real Estate Board will be held in Spencer's dining-room today at 12:30 p.m., to be addressed by Lindsey Grease, K.C., on the subject of municipal assessments.

In addition to this, a notice of motion given at the last meeting by James Forman and J. C. Bridgman, dealing with municipal affairs will also be discussed. The resolution calls for serious consideration being given to the financial affairs of the province, and expresses fear that the curtailment of grants formerly made by the province to municipalities may be attended with embarrassing additions to the taxation placed upon property. It urges, therefore, the restoration of the grants in some form.

It also urges that there should be a Department of Municipal Affairs established in the Provincial Government, so that a more equitable division of revenues as between the

MACHINE-MADE POLITICS

Whatever may be the development of the political consciousness of a people it is still possible to fool a lot of them with specious promises whenever an election takes place. That is indicated by the character of the vote secured by the C.C.F. Party in the late election. There are obviously a considerable number of our inhabitants who are unaware of the bounds set to provincial autonomy. The framers of the C.C.F. platform, for provincial use, seemingly never studied the British North America Act. If they did their programme must have been prepared with their tongues in their cheeks and with full knowledge that a section of the populace can always be stampeded by glittering generalities. Their candidates proposed the issue of scrip which would be "legal tender" within the province. Nothing of the kind could be done. British Columbia has not the power to interfere in any way with the processes of currency.

Another promise made to the people is that a new economic dispensation would be brought about under C.C.F. auspices. Not one word is said as to the methods that would be employed in the process. Economic dispensations are developed nationally, not provincially. They are contingent on trade and commerce, which are Federal concerns. The C.C.F. programme has been built up on a foundation of platitudes culled from Socialist textbooks, and the phrases are meaningless unless some definite explanation is given of practical ways to put them into effect. The only candidate in the late election who attempted to illustrate what would be the modus operandi of the C.C.F., if it were given the reins of power in British Columbia, was Mr. W. A. Pritchard, the leader of the party. He said that the purpose of the C.C.F. was the establishment of a Socialistic State, and in elaborating this conception, he went on to say: "That is the purpose of Soviet Russia. That is what is meant by the first clause in the platform of the C.C.F.—'The establishment of a planned system of social economy for the production, distribution and exchange of all goods and services.'"

Since so many of the other proponents of the C.C.F. Party, either wilfully or with purpose, nevertheless, venture into the realm of practical politics by saying how what they propose would be done, the conception put forward by Mr. Pritchard must be accepted. The plan, therefore, is to bring about a political dispensation such as prevails in Russia. The more the people understand this the plainer the issue becomes. The Party's leader's definition of methods is the only one that was forthcoming during the late election campaign. Mr. Pritchard was nothing is not specific when he said that the object of the C.C.F. is "to establish a planned Socialist Commonwealth just as the Soviet Government is attempting to do in Russia."

The Province as a whole has refused to run the risk of a political dispensation which would attempt to promote in this portion of Canada conditions such as have developed in Russia. The verdict in the deferred election in this constituency will undoubtedly endorse the judgment of the rest of British Columbia. Here, indeed, perhaps more than in any other constituency, the fallacies of the specious promises made by the C.C.F. candidates have been exposed. The candidates of that Party are on the defensive at every turn of the road they travel. Their destructive criticism of existing institutions has become playacting. They have developed into a group of Sadiats in their advocacy of their cause, and the worst kind of pessimist to be found anywhere is one who believes that everything is wrong in this portion of all possible worlds and that nothing can be right unless his advice is followed and a policy of topsy-turvydom adopted. The C.C.F. candidates have done their cause a great deal of harm by the irresponsible talk in which they have indulged, in the denunciatory epithets they have employed and by their utter failure to depict in detail the modus operandi they would adopt to put their Socialistic plans into execution. The measure of success that the party achieved in the late election was due almost solely to the political machine which they built up in the province, a machine of a character to which there is no parallel in the political history of the country.

LEGISLATIVE ANTHROPOMETRY

If the questionnaire which has reached the British House of Commons has a world-wide application it will soon be received in this province where a new Legislature has recently been elected. It is from a scientist in Washington, D.C., and it refers to the shapes and sizes of the heads of politicians. The contention advanced by the scientist is that elected candidates are "representative." In other words, that there is no necessity of attempting to estimate what public opinion is. All that should be done is to use a tape measure on the heads of members of legislative assemblies and there it discovered what voters consider a likeness to themselves. In commenting on the theory advanced by the Washington professor The London Times says:

"It is the first duty of members to be mediocre, or the representative system cannot work. There are some who say that the legislator should be an ordinary man, but raised to a higher power, and so stated, the dictum has commanded the assent of many, including Guy Fawkes. A member's head, as the seat of reason and indicator of his mental qualities may be expected to be similar in its bumps to the heads of his supporters. The American anthropometrists will have, of course, to make some allowance for bumps of a kind more interesting to the social historian than to the phenologist; but politics is, on the whole, less rough than it was, and popular politicians have had more than a hundred years in which to develop the bump of caution. . . . Once the electorate understands enough about heads to know a good one, candidates can be elected by a simple inspection of their photographs, without the troublesome reading and listening which confronts conscientious electors today. The present loose talk about this candidate or that, a head on his shoulders or being a long-headed man will give place to exact scientific description, and voters will call for more benevolence and idealism, and will only vote for the head that shows it. At present there is no way of finding out in advance if members of Parliament are going to prove cruel or wicked men. They can be judged only on their acts after they have been allowed to act, and on their words they may be smoothly deceiving. Yet it is as important as ever before that the public shall not be oppressed, and that kind and understanding laws shall be made."

ONTARIO HAS A SURPLUS

The latest budget of Ontario shows a surplus of $150,000. It is not a handsome figure, but any surplus in these times bespeaks careful administration in an era of depression. Ontario's surplus was made possible because of the improvement in conditions which has been evident for some months past. Revenues for the fiscal year exceeded the estimates by $2,450,000, and this despite the fact that there was no material increase in taxation during the year. In his budget speech dealing with the probabilities of the last fiscal year the Provincial Treasurer estimated a deficit of $2,900,000. Both he and the province as a whole have been pleasantly surprised. The drastic policy of retrenchment was put into practice. The sources of revenue were well safeguarded. The result redounds to the credit of Ontario and to the character of the administration presided over by Premier Henry. Ontario will be facing a provincial election before long. Its ability to provide a balanced budget under the conditions that have prevailed will undoubtedly prove a factor in strengthening the position of the Government with the electorate.

Prosperity has not ensued to any degree in the Irish Free State under the Government of Mr. de Valera. Figures show an increase of 27 per cent in the number of persons on Poor Law relief. There are now 46,600 persons on relief. The heaviest burden imposed by the Government at Dublin is being borne by those whose names do not appear on the relief list.

FLOWERS OF THE DUST

The Mills of God grind slowly, but they grind exceeding small—
So soft and slowly the great wheels go, they scarcely move at all;
But the souls of men fall into them and are powdered into dust.
And in that dust grow the Passion-Flowers—Love, Hope and Trust.

Most wondrous their upspringing, in the dust of the Grinding Mills.
And rare beyond the telling the fragrance each distills—
Some grow up tall and stately, and some grow sweet and small,
But life out of Death is in each one—with purpose grow they all.

For that dust is God's own garden, and the Lord Christ tends it fair,
With oh, such patient tenderness, and oh, such loving care!

In sorrow the seeds are planted, they are watered with bitter tears,
But their roots strike down to the Water-Springs and the Sources of the Years.

These flowers of Christ's own providence, they wither not nor die,
But flourish fair and fairer still, through all eternity.
In the dust of the Mill, and in travail, the amaranth seeds are sown,
But the Flowers in their full beauty climb the Pillars of the Throne.

—John Oxenham.

Fanaticism is the child of false zeal and of superstition, the father of intolerance and of persecution.
—J. W. Fletcher.

To judge human character rightly, a man may sometimes have very small experience, provided he has a very large heart.—Bulwer Lytton.

Good fortune that is past does not vanish from our memories; evil fortune we should not remember.—Cicero.

The whole creation is a mystery, and particularly that of man.—Sir T. Browne.

Any man may commit a mistake, but none but a fool will continue in it.—Cicero.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

But man, proud man,
Drest in a little brief authority,
Most ignorant of what he's most assured,
His shadow's self, says, "This am I, and thus I'll be." —Shakespeare.

"Change and decay in all around I see," wrote a melancholy poet. This is the melancholy season of the year, and there is sufficient evidence of change and decay. The year and yellow leaves are falling and cumbering the roads and sidewalks, and, we fear, sometimes provoking the minds of street car drivers and causing their lips to utter what once would be called words of profanity—but the saying of the sage remains true: Human nature never changes. All's wrong in the world, and the cursed spite is that there are so many people who believe they were born to set it right.

As it ever has been and ever will be, there are numbers of people who see windmills as oppressors, and go tilting at them just as militantly as old Don Quixote (who had a screw loose in his head). The crazy hero created by Cervantes thought there was one particular thing wrong with the world and believed he (with the assistance of Rosinante) could set it right.

The gallant and courageous old Spanish Don started a new movement. He meant well, just as all modern beginners of movements mean well. War is universally conceded to be the greatest of all evils, and the peace movement is well meant; but there is not a possibility that the peace movement may be overdone and produce the very evil it is intended to prevent. Is it not possible that the perpetual babbles about the imminent and the inevitableness of war may direct the thoughts of men into channels of fatalism and make war inevitable?

The intentions of the men who organized the League of Nations were well meant, but those reformers did not take into consideration the peculiarities of human nature. The organizers of the disarmament movement meant exceptionally well, but they failed to understand the limitations of human nature. The time has not yet come for practical realization of the dream of the poet of a world brotherhood. There is still such an intangible thing as national sentiment and the aspiration of the individual man for independence.

Germany has furnished an example to the world of the strength of national sentiment and of the possibility of the individual sacrificing his independence for national aspirations and ambitions. Human civilization has not yet attained the stage at which it will make sacrifices for the general well-being. Nations will not brook international interference with their national affairs. It is said sometimes in connection with the internal business of nations that the individuals of those nations will not tamely submit to regimentation, meaning that free men will not take orders from an arbitrary authority to get into line and walk in step with the mass.

The League of Nations might have been a grand success if it had developed into a league of all nations. The Disarmament Conference might have been a complete success if all the armed nations had joined it and piled their arms in one of the apartments of the building in which the Conference assembled for the purpose of conferring upon us the blessings of universal peace. But the League of Nations was never complete and the Disarmament Conference has been completely disrupted. Possibly it may be somewhat cynical to suggest something which already has been suggested, that the possibilities of peace would be greatly improved if a multitude of Don Quixotes were to reverse their lances and cease from tilting at imaginary windmills and trying to rescue imaginary damsels from equally imaginary dungeons.

There is an old axiom that the individual who has the least trouble in the world is he who attends strictly to his own business and does not thrust his finger into the private affairs of his neighbors. But there always have been, and no doubt ever will be, individual mischief-makers. There always have been, and probably there always will be, national disturbers of peace. There may be nations in the world today which contemplate war. If that be true, the best thing for the rest of the world to do is to leave them alone until they indicate what they are up to. It would manifestly be an impertinence for even a League of Nations to approach such nations and demand information as to their intentions. Time enough to cross a bridge when you come to it.

We might as well be honest about this thing, and admit that Great Britain has led the world in this as in most other movements. The ideals of some of the political leaders in Britain are sublime—when they do not appear to be ridiculous.

THE COLONIST IN LONDON
The Colonist may be procured at the International News Stand of Messrs. Selfridge & Co., Oxford Street.

The titular leader of the Imperial government has spent so much time in organizing movements and attending conferences designed to right the wrongs of the world that he has neglected the business of his own country, with the result that the people have begun to lose faith in the government. Critics are beginning to say Britain has committed herself to so many movements designed for the protection of other nations against possible aggressions of other nations that it has lost sight of the fact that there may be interests at home which are in need of attention and care. Such criticisms are further proof of the unchangeableness of human nature.

'Slams and Salaams'

By H. T. M.

Journalistic drabness! Day after day, the same old plagues of literary phlegm soak up the front pages and the back pages, too, if you ever get that far! Hardly a real, live "human interest" story has wriggled over the rollers of the big black press, and thence to the public's eye, for at least a week.

About the only recent yarn that could disturb the emotions in any way at all, was the one about Texas Guinan's funeral—where a couple of thousand women (bel-dames would be better), mobbed the attendant cops, and then stripped Guinan's coffin of everything but its lid.

What an extraordinary business! What possible satisfaction could they get out of literally robbing the dead? In a few days, the flowers they snatched would be limp and dying—and then, what? Possibly they'd be flattened between the back pages of the Family Album? And presumably, the next act doesn't take place 'til twenty years after—when one of those queer women unearth the old Family Album to show somebody a shriveled-up lily or chrysanthemum with the announcement, "That, my dear, is a flower I snatched from Texas Guinan's coffin!" . . . and the correct reply to that might be, "How very clever of you, my dear! Or again, it might be "Take it back to Texas Guinan's grave at once, and say you're very, very sorry!" (What a revolting scene that must have been! Savage, to the nth power!)

That's about the only human news we've noticed lately—the rest has been saggin around Central Banking; the rise of the Canadian dollar and the pound sterling; Hitler's vote and behavior; disarmament; Mac West, and Mr. Pattullo and his new Cabinet. We don't know a thing about Central Banking, so we'll be almost wise for once and promptly shut up about it; and we haven't the slightest notion why the Canadian dollar and the pound sterling should rise so enormously (except that those two commodities are off referred to as "dough")—and Hitler only gives us the pip because the chances are we'll soon have to waddle onto the battlefield and mow in blood on his behalf (mostly); and disarmament (which is really more armament), gives us the same gory feeling.

But Mac West's a little different—and if it wasn't for the Public making such a atrocious fuss over her, we'd be quite fond of the old girl. But the Public invariably does the wrong thing. As soon as anyone or anything grabs the spotlight, the Public immediately loses what little head it possesses, and starts fawning and sprawling over its new found idol (the precise thing happened to our ally sea-serpent), until you begin to think that there must be a catch somewhere—and consequently you feel a bit sick and scornful about it all—or can you stand an over-dose of superficiality?

But it's really quite amusing to note how a national idol (especially a theatrical one), can literally alter a whole nation's shape and language. For instance, all our little female accomplices in daily crime are now bravely trying to shape themselves after their dear little shapes. Most of the latest fashion-plots fairly quiver with the "Mac West Figure"; and we strongly suspect that in many boudoirs, today, a certain amount of surreptitious "stuffing" is becoming at least part of millady's toilet! And as for language, what man, woman or child today can part his lips in any utterance other than, "Hello, hale and handsome! Better come up and see me. Any time!"

And that's very, very foolish. And there's hardly a radio announcer, a public speaker, or a reporter who does not fairly bust himself and finally succeed in wedging that national password somewhere into his yarn or spiel—which is also foolish and no longer necessary, because it's hackneyed. Another thing. The press makes an awful hash of it. They dish it up this way—"Better come up and see me. Any time." That's rank. It should be, "Buttuh kuk! mupphun semmeh. Enneh talme." . . . and don't forget to curl your upper lip and "schneize" down your snout, when you try it!

But Mac's quite a lady. In fact, we'll be there, as it were, when she comes this week. Doubtless, she verges crude. One might even go further and announce that she's most damnable vulgar. But Mac's got a "way" with her, and she can get away with a lot of stuff that if anybody else tried to monkey with—it, they'd be skidding down the alley on their left ear, while outraged society belched in the background. (So don't try any of Mac's stunts at your next revival meeting. You won't be popular. For remember—it's de old poison-sillity, not count! Yeah—it's de old poison-sillity. And if you don't just happen to have the exact amount of that there's going to be trouble when you start getting dirty at public meetings, and so on. And don't say that we haven't warned you, either!)

Now, regarding Mr. Pattullo and his new Cabinet. Yes . . . regarding Mr. Pattullo and his . . . dear, we seem to be stuck?

Why is that? Why can't we write clearly and definitely about Mr. Pattullo and his political merry men? We should be able to. There's been enough photography and scribbling about them recently—in fact, both local papers seem to have suddenly developed into veritable biographical lection with tin-typed every Liberal that ever snored in the shade of Queen Victoria's statue.

And there's nothing wrong in that! Why shouldn't Liberals snore in the exalted umbrage of Queen Victoria's statue? The Conservatives did, before them; and the Liberals before them, and so on, long before there was any Queen Victoria statue with ensnaring shade to hide behind!

But somehow we imagine that the new Government is going to change all that. There's a feeling in our time-withered bones that this new Government is going to get in and do. They're not to. They know that—so here's good luck to the worn ruddy gang of them. They're sworn in, now, and let's hope they never do anything about which they could possibly be sworn AT.

And now, please excuse me while I go and get my hair waved. "Honestly, Isabel, I can't make up my mind whether to have it off again or to let it grow! What would you suggest, my dear?"

"Well, of course, my dear—you know, my dear—that I've always said, my dear—that you look too beautiful with it up. But, of course, if you . . . Oh nuff! Somebody come and take this silly typewriter away from me! Quick!"

FLARE EXPLODES DURING MEETING

Was Placed in Chaplain's Pistol During War—Girl is Slightly Injured

SEAPORTH, Ont., Nov. 16 (CP).—Placed in a pistol during the war to light up No Man's Land, somewhere in France, a flare exploded in the midst of a meeting of young people in St. James' Parish Church, here, and slightly injured Mary Duncan. The meeting was thrown into excitement.

The pistol was a war souvenir, owned by Rev. Father T. Hussey, pastor of the parish and chaplain during the war. The flare had rested in the chamber of the gun since war-time.

Father Hussey was showing the gun to the children when one of the boys reached out and pulled the trigger, sending the flare into the wall, where a few seconds later it exploded, lighting up with a brilliance that would have been familiar to front-line veterans.

Will Recommend Foreshore Sale

LADYSMITH, Nov. 16.—Interviews with V. Harrison, city solicitor, on negotiations with the Canadian Surety Company, and with T. Byatt, of the local detachment, Provincial Police, on police matters, occupied most of the council's time last evening.

The assistant secretary of the Canadian Collieries wrote that Lieutenant-Colonel C. W. Villiers, general manager of the colliery company, was leaving for the East shortly, and he would there recommend that the city council's application to acquire foreshore property owned by the company, be granted. The sale would involve a nominal sum, and there would be reservations retaining the company's right of access to parts of the property.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

THERE SHOULD BE NO WORRY ABOUT HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE IN MOST CASES

One of the mistakes physicians (including myself) have made in the past was in letting the patient know his blood pressure, particularly when the pressure was high.

Now to have blood pressure above normal may be the best thing possible for you, as your blood pressure rises because it needs to rise to overcome various obstacles and supply every part of your body with blood.

Similarly with temperature. Many patients with an increased temperature are very anxious to get the temperature lowered by the use of drugs, aspirin, phenacetin, acetaminophen, quinine—when, as a matter of fact, the increased temperature simply shows that the body is fighting some ailment.

Thus we find that patients who have been told that they have high blood pressure learn to think of blood pressure as being a measure of the state of their health, and so if it is high when they consult their physician, they feel just that much worse.

If your blood pressure happens to be high it may be just a temporary or passing condition, but if you let it worry you, then it will keep high because of your worry, and every time you consult your physician he will find it high.

The first thought, then, in these cases of increased blood pressure is to make sure that there is not some real trouble such as hardening of the arteries, some kidney or other ailment. If no such condition exists, the patient is given no treatment whatever by the physician and told to "forget" about the blood pressure. The fact that no treatment is given reassures the patient.

If, however, the blood pressure is increased because of some real or permanent trouble in the body, then a "right way of living" is outlined for the patient, which if followed faithfully should give him many years of useful life.

While there are various drugs to use for lowering the pressure in these cases, the chief reliance, to avoid symptoms and prolong life, is placed on proper living habits—rest periods during the day, increased hours of sleep, shielding patient from worry, keeping bowels lax with Epsom or other salts, diet low enough to give strength without increasing weight, light open-air exercise.

So, whether the increased blood pressure is due to passing or permanent conditions, a right way of living should prevent trouble.

manship of President Charles Hopper. Appreciation of the efforts of James Brown in coaching the class was expressed by Mr. Hopper, on behalf of the club and class members. In response, Mr. Brown stated his willingness to undertake the work of coaching many classes in life saving.

Early Northern Settler Drowned

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Nov. 16 (CP).—Headquarters of the Provincial Police here have been advised by Constable H. L. McKenney, of Terrace, of the drowning of Albert Michaud, well known Terrace prospector and trapper, at Eighteen-Mile on the Copper River on November 10.

No details of the tragedy were given. Michaud was one of the early settlers of the Terrace district.

Customer (suspiciously): "How is this hash made, waiter?" Waiter: "Made, sir? Why, hash isn't made. It accumulates."

HONOR IS PAID TO NEW JUDGE

Hon. H. B. Robertson Tendered Banquet by Bar Association of City

A pleasant evening was spent at the Union Club, last evening, when members of the Victoria Bar Association extended a complimentary banquet to Mr. Justice Harold B. Robertson. The event was arranged by the members of the bar to mark the honor that had been paid one who had for many years been a fellow member of their association, by his elevation to a place on the Supreme Court of the province.

A very brief toast list was arranged with the honoring of the King and also a toast to the guest of the evening, which permitted of the making of references to His Lordship in happy vein by several present. H. G. Lawson, K.C., president of the bar association, presided over the ceremonies as toastmaster, introducing the speakers which included in addition to the guest of the evening Hon. F. B. Gregory, who only recently retired from the bench.

Others who spoke were H. A. Maclean, K.C., and Norman W. Whitaker, who is the member for Saanich riding in the Provincial Legislature. During the evening many others took occasion to pay compliments to the new member of the bench, and to the happy associations which had existed between him and the other members of the organization during the many years that they had been associated in practice. The hope was expressed that His Lordship would long be spared to occupy the position on the bench.

Expect more than "quick-starting" from your gasoline

This winter you can have a fuel that is THERMALIZED*

THERMALIZED GASOLINE DOES THIS:

Thermalized
SUPER-SHELL

ORDINARY

START

FULL POWER

STILL BUCKING

STILL REQUIRING CHOKE

GET this difference: (1) A sputtering, missing motor that doesn't want to "warm up." (2) An engine, still cold, and yet running smoothly, efficiently on a new type of gasoline.

That is exactly the difference between ordinary winter gasolines and the new Thermalized Super Shell.

With the ordinary gasoline you may not have any trouble getting the engine to start. But you do have trouble getting it to run, at first, without using excessive choke.

And while you're trying, you're wasting as much as half your gasoline. You are sending a stream of unburned fuel down into your oil. Your power is cut in half.

The New Way

Super Shell, the new gasoline which won the nation last summer, has a winter effect you should know about.

*THERMALIZED: The name given Shell's combination of processes by which gasoline is made to deliver full power in a cold engine. Originally produced under terrific heat, Super Shell is redistilled, made even more concentrated. And every gallon for your community is Thermalized for local temperatures.

It is Thermalized—which means something far beyond "quick-starting." A Thermalized fuel takes an icy motor and sends it away smoothly in less time. It increases power. Saves you gasoline, makes your car do a real summer time job in winter weather.

Here is an experience you must not miss! Fill your tank with Thermalized Super Shell today. Tomorrow morning give it its first real test. Notice how smoothly your cold motor runs.

And Super Shell gives you all these things, too:

- ... Top anti-knock rating, to keep your car running quietly under extreme conditions.
- ... Complete freedom from wasteful "gassy" parts and sluggish "ends."
- ... Better mileage, its users say, than from other gasolines.
- ... The maximum of quick starting, of power, speed and pick-up; real premium performance.

Cook's Tour Taken By Y.W.C.A. Guests On Fellowship Day

Throng of Guests Visit Local Y.W.C.A. and Enjoy Rare Collection of Curios Representative of Many Different Countries of World

A WESTERN world inured to Hollywood's "osculatory photography" may not fully appreciate the shyness of the young Mohammedan lover of India who is permitted to see his affianced bride for the first time only as a reflection in a coin-sized mirror set in his bridegroom's ring.

One of these unusual little souvenirs of India's age-old marriage customs formed an interesting object in the fascinating India section of the Y.W.C.A. "World Fellowship Day" Cook's tour at the local Y.W.C.A. yesterday. The affair drew quite a throng of visitors, but undoubtedly many more Victorians would have patronized the tour had they realized the rare character of the treasures assembled from India, China, Africa, South America, Europe, Australia, and remote parts of this continent. Convened by Miss Norma Macdonald and the new general secretary of the Y.W.C.A., Miss Blackie, the exhibition embraced hundreds of rare curios.

In connection with the event there were afternoon and evening programmes, with dances and music representing France, Japan, Turkey, Sweden and medieval England. Girls charmingly dressed in the costumes of different countries, helped in the afternoon and evening about the building. Especially gorgeous was the Chinese room, entirely decorated in ceremonial style as for a Chinese wedding, the walls hung with magnificent gold and blue embroidered crimson hangings, and chairs, table, and music desk also draped with rich matching embroidery. The three sisters, Lina, Gore, Violet and Rose—all of whom are members of the Y.W.C.A. Corner Club, gave charmingly appropriate personality in their colorful and Chinese dress, and smilingly explained the significance and meaning of the various objects on the ceremonial table and elsewhere about the room.

POSTERS AND CURIOS

There was no formal opening, but the affair was completely self-explanatory. All about the walls of the various rooms hung big travel posters, lent by the Canadian National Railway, suggesting the country represented in the collection. These were splendidly organized and explicitly labeled, and there was just enough, but not too much, programme.

To give an air of realism to the game of Touring With Cook, guests were presented with a long green "railway" ticket, the various sections of which represented stopovers in the different countries. The "India" section was composed of curios sent by a former missionary. Here one found the mirroring, a long-scraper, a toe-ring with bells inside, an enormous silver Indian caterpillar about six inches long, with horrible legs down each side, earrings, brass plaques, trays, and various interesting native costumes.

AFRICAN EXHIBIT

Ancient Egypt, and "darkest Africa" were represented in the section devoted to Africa. The curios being a piece of brick such as made by the Children of Israel when they were not allowed to use straw, and another, a small silver piece of an Egyptian coffin dating back to 2300 B.C.

There was an exquisite coffee set from Danakil, with hand-painted, a beautiful glass and silver, a small bowl from Vladivostok, two betrothal spoons from Norway, linked by a carved chain carved from a Norwegian pine; copper spoons from Holland; a whole tableful of interesting things from France, including a model of a gallant, a Noire Dame, a lovely little bronze cupid by Barbedienne, and a reproduction of a rare edition of Hans Holbein's "Totentanz" (1538). Turkey was represented by numerous old.

Attorney-General Sloan returned to Vancouver yesterday, after having been created a King's Counsel by executive order, following the customary practice for Attorneys-General. Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, also returned to Vancouver to clean up personal affairs there.

The remainder of the Cabinet held a short session in the morning, after which Premier Pattullo met news correspondents, replying to questions, but without further announcements.

RUMBLINGS INEVITABLE

The new ministry kept discreetly silent as to rumblings from Chilliwack and elsewhere in the interests of those who were disappointed in their desire for Cabinet posts. Out of some thirty men mentioned for possible Cabinet honors, it was a foregone conclusion that many must be left behind. Credit is being generally given to Premier Pattullo in the selection.

Hon. A. W. Gray, Minister of Lands, forestry, survey and other branches of his extensive department, in company with Henry Cathcart, deputy minister and one of the senior officials in the civil service. Other new ministers also made themselves acquainted with their staffs, and commenced a survey of the immediate tasks of administration.

PREPARING DATA

Premier Pattullo is preparing data on unemployment and other problems, preparatory to his proposed Bill for the conference with the Federal Government.

As president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, Reeve William Crockett stated a meeting of the executive of that body would be held at Vancouver, on November 24, to consider financial and relief proposals that will be laid before the Pattullo Government shortly.

STATES LIBERALS WERE INSINCERE

T. Guy Sheppard, C.C.F. Candidate, Claims Premier Broke Faith With Electors

Charges that Premier T. D. Pattullo's election campaign promises were insincere, were made by T. Guy Sheppard, C.C.F. candidate in Chilliwack, before a meeting of the field electors last night in the Sir James Douglas School. H. A. Bowden was in the chair.

Declaring that promises of the Liberals do not materialize in the manner they should, Mr. Sheppard said Premier Pattullo had broken faith with Liberal supporters at Chilliwack in not naming E. D. Barrow, of that district, as Minister of Agriculture in the Cabinet. The speaker stated that the present Premier, when campaigning in Chilliwack, had promised that Mr. Barrow would have a seat in the Cabinet, if elected. The Chilliwack Liberal Association is now protesting the breach of faith, he said.

Later, Mr. Sheppard told the meeting he was certain Premier Pattullo is not in his ideas, but cannot keep his promises, as all power lies in the machine backing the Liberal Party. There was only one way in which the Liberals could win the election, and that was by promoting "work and wages," the candidate asserted.

"NO PRACTICAL SOLUTION"
"I am confident that the Liberals do not know where they are going. If they did, they would have told us," stated Rev. Robert Connell. He went on to declare that the new Government offers no practical solution to any of the vital problems which present themselves today. Members are not facing facts of the times, and are living in a state of "cheerful idiocy," the speaker claimed.

Need of a strong C.C.F. Opposition was stressed by W. B. Caird. He said that the jangling of much criticism at the Government will be necessary in order to keep it to its promises.

HEAR Alderman A. McGAVIN Over CFCT TONIGHT AT 7

The remains are resting at Sands Mortuary Chapel, pending funeral arrangements, which will be made later.

A teacher, instructing a class in composition, said: "Do not attempt any flights of fancy; be yourselves, and write what is in you."

The following day a bright pupil handed in the following: "We should not attempt any flight of fancy; write what is in us. In me there is my stomach, lungs, heart, liver, two apples, one piece of mince-pie, three sticks of candy, a hull lot of peanuts, and my dinner."

Chrysanthemum Tea Has Show of Evening Gowns

Vivid colors and rich fabrics predominated at the chrysanthemum tea yesterday afternoon when another fashion show was given by the Hudson's Bay Company in the dining room, when a large number of tea guests attended the first day's performance. The show will be repeated again this afternoon, commencing at 3:30 o'clock.

The tea room was a mass of chrysanthemums of many hues, which made a beautiful setting for the lovely gowns which were shown by the mannequins as they walked around the room to pianoforte lections, played by Miss Grace Allen, L.A.B.

Velvet was by far the outstanding material and the beautiful begonia transparent velvet dinner gown with white embroidered velvet sleeves, worn by Miss Carey, justified the reason for this fabric leading the style this year. With this frock, Miss Carey wore a black velvet Molyneux model picture hat. The chrysanthemum green transparent velvet Sunday night frock, worn by Miss Pearson, featured a leaf shaped collar with which she wore a Gainsboro black velvet turban.

Though red, green and blue were the leading colors, the white cut velvet evening gown, silhouette style, with ivory buckle, was an exquisite creation, worn by Miss Carey, who later appeared in this frock wearing a white lapin jacket, with elbow puff sleeves.

The "baby-face" hat, the newest in chapeaux, a Gainsboro model with turquoise facing, was worn by Miss Penneck, when she modeled a black chiffon velvet dinner gown. Another black transparent velvet dinner gown was worn by Mrs. Rattenbury, with white embroidered velvet yoke and sleeves. She later appeared in a brown and cream chiffon and lace dinner gown, with triple sheer, which was quite a contrast from the velvet. With this she wore a brown sateen felt Gainsboro model hat, with ostrich spray. Beading was much in evidence in several of the dresses, among which was a Flanders blue crepe evening gown with silver beaded cape, worn by Miss Pearson, and a glory blue crinkle crepe evening gown, shown by Mrs. Rattenbury, which was trimmed with silver beads. Mrs. Rattenbury also wore a becoming white duchesse satin evening frock, with beaded crepe top and copper-gio velvet bow.

In girlish style was the orchid taffeta evening frock, trimmed with apple green velvet and worn by Miss Carey. Another shown by her was a black taffeta dance frock, with pale pink bodice traced in silver.

A green moss crepe Sunday night frock and a shrimp ruff crepe dinner gown with glass collar effect, and the copper-gio triple sheer dinner gown with brown panne velvet bows were all striking, as also was an Oriental gold dinner gown of moss crepe which featured wing shoulders. A magenta red moss crepe frock with lantern sleeves of black velvet was something different for Sunday night wear.

For dinner wear a black crepe gown had a cocktail jacket of metallic blue and gold, while another was of black triple sheer with embroidered yoke and sleeves of baby pink; with this a black velvet turban with shaded flowers was worn. A really stunning dinner gown was worn by Miss Penneck, and was of bold-de-rose crepe with brown chiffon velvet jacket.

Among the satin materials was an evening gown living on the strap back which was embroidered in silver, also an ice green duchesse satin evening frock with cross back and another, a turquoise satin evening gown trimmed with buttons had a matching jacket.

Up-to-the-minute were the wraps for evening which were shown, and here again velvet was the material used. A green velvet evening wrap had a white lapin collar which was beautifully lined with ivory satin. A black one featured epaulettes of white lapin and was also lined with ivory satin, with a tie-up scarf edged with squirrel tails was the attraction of the vintage red evening wrap of velvet. The make-up was by Elizabeth Arden.

Weddings

WALKER-TODD
At the home of her sister, Mrs. E. S. Brennen, Connaught Street, the wedding was quietly solemnized, yesterday afternoon, of Isabel Watson, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Todd, Pine Street, and Mr. John Knox Walker, second son of Mrs. E. Walker, Westview Road. Rev. G. F. Cox, of the Victoria West Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of only a few relatives of the bride and groom. Mr. John Todd, Jr., gave his sister in marriage, and she wore her smart traveling costume of brown, with a fur-trimmed coat and a small hat finished with a tiny veil, and a corsage of roses. They were unattended. After the service, a few intimate friends arrived to wish the happy couple bon voyage. Refreshments were served from a table centred with the wedding cake and arranged with white streamers and four pink candles. The bride and groom stood beneath a large white bell to receive their friends. After a honeymoon on the American mainland, Mr. and Mrs. Walker will return to Victoria to make their home.

CITY'S RELIEF
ROLL SMALLERDecrease for October Is 212
Families Compared With
1932 Period

A 22 per cent decrease in the number on relief during October of this year, compared with the same month of 1932, was reported by the city relief office yesterday. A similar decrease was reported for the month of September.

The comparative figures follow: 1932, September, 740 families; October, 761 families; 1933, September, 845 families; October, 973 families.

For October, this represents a decrease of 212 families compared with October of last year. The increase in those on relief in October over the preceding month is only twelve, as compared with a jump of 128 families from September to October of 1932.

These figures were accepted in City Hall circles as indicating that some of those formerly on relief were being absorbed by private enterprises.

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"

If November 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 to 10:15 a.m., from 3:30 to 4:45 p.m. and from 5:45 to 6:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to 12 noon, from 1:15 to 2:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10 p.m. and 10:15 to 11:15 p.m. You will be inclined to indulge your senses on this date and it will be not at all surprising to find you suffering from indigestion or some allied ailment. Mothers will feel the need of speaking harshly to their children and of dealing severely with them. They must, however, be careful not to carry things too far lest the lesson to be taught lose force because of ridiculous severity.

The child born in this November 17 will in all probability have little idea of money; do not bring him up "with a gold spoon in his mouth." You will find him to be an observing little one quick to catch on to things and more willing to learn from what goes on about him and by asking questions than by studying and reading.

Born on November 17, you will more than likely require a great deal of money for your happiness. You like to do things in a "big way," you like to impress people with your importance and you seem to feel that pomp and display, a big splash, will accomplish the desired results. Consequently, the women do not make the best housekeepers, for they are not inclined to get down to fundamentals, and what they do, they do for effect rather than for beneficial and lasting results. They are not the most economical by any means and are not at all interested in routine work about the home. The men keep themselves pretty much on the jump getting things done in a business way. Fortunately, they are men of ideas and can turn their talents to doing numerous things. Money comes to them fairly easily and departs from their coffers with equal rapidity. The women do not care for careers in business although they are qualified to carry on if they choose. When reverses of a financial nature are encountered these women are quick to "grab the oars" and very often, forced into business, they succeed admirably in ventures where they must compete with men. Both sexes are not hasty to enter into marriage; they weigh the social and other material advantages to be gained and very often select their friends of the opposite sex with a direct view of what they would have to offer if love should creep into the picture.

Magistrate: "So you and your wife have been fighting again. Liquor?" Prisoner: "No, sir, she licked me this time."

Saanich Jersey Body Wants Agriculturalists to Aid in Promoting Junior Farm Work

A meeting of the Saanich Jersey Calf Club was held at the Experimental Station, and was attended by the members' parents, Mr. Straight, the club leader; Mr. Aylard, president of the Saanich Jersey Cattle Club, and Mr. Gunn, provincial livestock commissioner.

The object of the meeting was to discuss the advisability of continuing the club for the ensuing year as a Yearling Heifer Club and have the final awards for the Provincial Calf Club competition, fifty marks being awarded for placing at the North and South Saanich Agricultural Fair, twenty-five marks for care and management, and twenty-five marks for the monthly financial statement.

The reason that only two members had rendered their financial returns was conceded as lack of instruction and supervision. The two members in question agreed to have their financial returns disregarded in the final scoring. The final awards were as follows: 1, Iain Wilson; 2, Joan Butler; 3, Duley Malcolm; 4, Muriel Raper; 5, Isobel Anderson; 6, Douglas Lawson.

As the result of the hardship worked upon the members during the past year, the following resolution was unanimously endorsed:

"Resolved that this joint meeting of boys and girls of the Saanich Jersey Calf Club and their parents, held at the Experimental Station, petition the Honorable the Minister of Agriculture to make available for the instruction, coordination and promotion of junior farm work on Vancouver Island, a district agriculturalist highly qualified in the fitting, judging and breeding, as well as general management of livestock.

The next meeting of the club will be held at Mr. Straight's home, on Saturday, November 25, commencing at 8 o'clock, when all parents are invited to attend and assist in the reorganization.

"I say, old man, where did you get that black eye?"

"You remember that pretty blonde we met at the dance—the girl whose fiancé went to Ireland?"

"Yes."

"Well, he didn't."

Famous Hindenburg Head Is Found and Placed in Museum

Remains of Noted Wood Statue, Nail Filled by Patriotic Germans, Is Discovered in Lumber Yard After Fourteen Years' Search

NEW YORK (CP).—Hindenburg's head has been found. On the same day, August 27 last, that Paul von Hindenburg, president of the German Reich, was a centre of interest at Tannenberg, at the celebration of his famous victory over the Russian invaders in 1914, says The New York Times. The Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, lifted the veil of mystery. For fourteen years the whereabouts of the huge, grotesque wooden image, studded with iron, silver and golden nails, erected on the Königsplatz, September 4, 1915, was a dark secret.

The "iron" or "wooden" Hindenburg, which was almost forty feet tall, and was mounted on a base six feet high, served the double purpose of glorifying the veteran field marshal and of raising millions of marks for war widows and orphans and crippled ex-service men. Per sons wishing to display their patriotism bought nails, ranging in price from one mark to hundreds of marks, and solemnly drove them into the effigy. During the first twenty-six days following the dedication of the statue 205,000 marks were spent in this fashion.

REMOVAL WAS ORDERED
About a year after the end of the World War, runs the story in the Berlin newspaper, the International Military Commission ordered the removal of the "Iron Hindenburg," perhaps for esthetic reasons. Just about that time the financial concern entrusted with the explotation of the statue in the interest of the war sufferers went into bankruptcy and the nail-studded figure went under the auctioneer's hammer. A Berlin company bought it with the announced intention of selling it to some patriotic groups in East Prussia. Then it disappeared.

Soon all sorts of legends sprang up. Americans were said to have got hold of the "Iron Hindenburg." Its hands and swordhilt were "discovered" in Chicago. The right arm was "in the Military Museum in Paris."

And on May 1, 1931, the following advertisement was printed in a Berlin paper:

"Iron Hindenburg, all or part, for sale. Inquire under No. 1350."

REPORTER SET TO WORK
Again silence. Until a few weeks ago The Vossische Zeitung put a reporter on the old mystery with

CHAPTER XXIX

Eileen, for the second time since she had set out on that ill-fated voyage from London, found herself groping in the dark, trying to remember what had happened. . . .

"The risk is too great," a man's voice had said. "It's madness!"

She had been ill, perhaps. It was all part of delirium. . . .

Those gardens with the orange trees in which monkeys played. . . .

"Yes, but it is dangerous—very dangerous. How can I ever hope to carry her so far?"

"The price is low, my friend, for such."

Her legs are too thin for the taste of his serene Highness. . . .

It was this last remark which had finally aroused Eileen. . . .

She opened her eyes, looked down on her own bare body, and, galvanized into life, sprang upright. . . .

In a large saloon with a matting-covered floor and closely shuttered windows. She had been lying on a divan covered with faded tapestry. . . .

Before her, one plump hand raised to his hairless lip as if in consideration, was a stout, green-robed person wearing European clothes. . . .

Beside him stood a very dirty old Arab. . . .

Eileen looked swiftly about her. There was no substitute for a moment in the place. . . .

Step forward, and conquering she dived, nee, she struck the heat-laiting buyer on his fat face. . . .

She struck. . . . twice! He recoiled. A third time—and this with her fist. . . .

Haasen es-Suk clutched her in his sinewy old hands. With her knee she kicked him violently in the stomach. . . .

He released her. She kicked, but this spurt of strength which had flared up under the sense of outrage now deserted her. . . .

Slaggered, swayed forward. . . . followed an interval of complete unconsciousness. . . .

"We all hope the policy the United States is following will succeed. Nobody can dogmatize, but it is certain the actions of the United States will have their first reactions upon Canada." . . .

In the Dominion today there was, to his personal knowledge, unbounded faith and confidence in the future, he added.

British Anglicans have a "foreign office." It was set up in 1932 by the Church Assembly to make contacts between the Church of England and foreign churches. . . .

At the present time it is negotiating with the Church of Finland, an episcopal Lutheran church. Interchange of students with the Greek Church has also been started.

The Methodist Church in Great Britain, which was united a year ago after a century of disunion, is embarking on a great campaign for an evangelistic advance, more particularly in the new urban areas. For that campaign the church is seeking $2,500,000.

A slithering coverlet had been thrown over her. She grasped this and drew it up to her shoulders. . . .

"You think you or any other man could buy me?"

A door at the further end of the saloon opened softly. Yu'an Hee came down the steps. . . .

"Forget this fear, Haasen. I had thought the chief cinch of the Prince a wiser man. But my money is as good as his, and I also collect fair wages. . . .

"Twelve hundred pounds English, Haasen? Your share will be a big one."

Eileen opened her eyes. She still lay in that dark, stuffy saloon. The villainous old Arab was there; the other man's features were indistinguishable because of bandages, but through those bandages dark eyes watched her greedily. . . .

A slithering coverlet had been thrown over her. She grasped this and drew it up to her shoulders. . . .

"You think you or any other man could buy me?"

A door at the further end of the saloon opened softly. Yu'an Hee came down the steps. . . .

CANDIDATES IN FINAL APPEALS

Victoria Electors Will Have Surfeit of Meetings for Closing Week

Campaigning for four seats in the Eighteenth Legislature will re-open generally in Victoria City next week with many meetings scheduled for the ensuing five days. The official list of candidates in the riding stood at twenty-four yesterday, or an average of six contestants for every seat open.

F. A. Willis, returning officer, announced formal withdrawal of Charles R. Bishop, Independent Non-Partisan, leaving only Captain George McGregor of that slate still technically nominated.

Arrangements for meetings announced yesterday included the following:

MEETINGS ALL WEEK
Conservatives—William C. Morley, K.C., invited to address the Women's Conservative Association on Thursday next. Meetings on behalf of Brigadier J. S. Brown, Colonel H. T. Goodland and F. J. Crowhurst, also were being arranged, and announcement will be made shortly in the regard.

LIBERALS—Royal Victoria Theatre, at 8 p.m. on Monday, when Premier Pattullo and the entire Liberal Cabinet will appear. The Premier and the four Liberal candidates, Hon. John Hart, Alderman W. H. Kinsman, Byron Johnson and J. B. Clearline, will take the chair at this meeting, and also at a final rally to follow at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Saturday, November 26, at 8 p.m., with the candidates and some of the ministers in attendance.

INDEPENDENTS
Independents—Reginald Hayward, no platform meetings scheduled yet, but will continue active campaign. Dr. Clem Davies, Chamber of Commerce auditorium on November 18, at 8 p.m.; Royal Victoria Theatre on Friday, November 24, at 8 p.m.; other meetings to be arranged. Herbert Anson, at Sir James Douglas School on Monday, at 8 p.m.; at Oaklands School on Tuesday at the same hour; at Board Park School on Wednesday also at 8:15 p.m. Further meetings are arranged for later in the week.

Christopher Rowland, Joseph North, rally at Horseshow Building, Willows, on Wednesday, at 8 p.m., at present arranged.

C.C.F. FIXTURES
C.C.F.—Monday, St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay; Tuesday (subject to final notice), at George Jay School, Wednesday, at Chamber of Commerce auditorium; Thursday, at Stanley Hall, Victoria West; Saturday, at City Temple; at 8 p.m. in each case; Robert Connell, Captain T. G. Sheppard, W. B. Caird and V. R. Midgley, the four candidates, to speak.

Age of Universe To Be Discussed
Perhaps the most interesting thing on this earth is a meteorite. Coming from "empty space," several millions of miles or "falling stars" enter our atmosphere every day. Nearly all are burned up by their friction through the air. Very few survive to reach the ground. Laboratory examination of these meteorites tells much that would otherwise remain unknown. For instance, by comparing the ages of meteorites with the age of the earth, estimates are being obtained of the age of our universe.

This remarkable development of recent scientific research and many other interesting facts about meteors will be explained by Dr. Frank S. Hogg, Ph.D., of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, in a lecture on "Meteors, Our Visitors From Space," before Victoria centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, at the Y.W.C.A., at 8 o'clock tonight. The lecture, which will be fully illustrated, will be free to the public, and all interested in astronomy are cordially invited to join the society.

"Paw, what's an advertisement?" asked little Hubert.

"An advertisement," explained the father, "is the picture of a pretty girl eating, cooking, chewing, smelling, gargling, rubbing, wearing or driving something which the advertisers are anxious to sell."

The Croupy Cough Worries the Mother

Mothers should never neglect the first sign of a cold or cough where their children are concerned, for if they do some serious trouble of the bronchial tubes may develop.

Half the battle in doctoring children is to give them something they will like; something they will take without any fuss, and this the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It acts promptly by soothing the air passages, loosening the phlegm, strengthening the bronchial tubes and fortifying them against serious chest troubles.

HEAVY PENALTY IN OPIUM CASE

Chinese Goes to Jail—Must Pay Fine and Loses His Automobile

Judgment was given yesterday by Magistrate George Jay in the Esquimalt police court yesterday in the case of Wu Fung, who was found guilty of having opium in his possession. The case was conducted by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police who, through an intermediary, produced evidence of the taking of opium from the automobile of the accused.

PREVENTION IS AHEAD OF CURE

Dr. H. E. Young Urges Importance of Creating Public Sentiment Regarding Health

Dr. H. E. Young, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, in addressing the Rotary Club yesterday, made a strong appeal for the creation of a strong public opinion in favor of the rational handling of the subject of health. He felt that if the public would show that it had definite ideas in this respect, any government would be only too glad to assist in meeting the situation.

Using the experience of Spanish, where the subject of the prevention of disease had been grappled with in a systematic manner, Dr. Young showed the gains that had been made in a public way by such action. There had, in years past, been an exceptionally large amount of sickness evident there. In 1928, it had cost the municipality $6,000 for isolation cases. In addition to this, there had been constant closing of schools, which represented a loss in education.

Last year, following the employment of a doctor, who gave his whole time to seeking prevention of disease and the use of nurses, the isolation costs had been only $120. There had not been a school closed. Preventative advice was given up to four years of age for babies. Following that, preventative instruction was given. The result had been that while in 1928, Spanish had been called upon to bear $17,000 in expenses for health, this had been cut in 1929 to $11,000, and in 1931 to $600. It was, therefore, from the standpoint of good business a wise move that had been made. This should appeal to business men such as he was addressing.

British Columbia, said the speaker, was getting results in extension of life. In 1911-12, the average death was just over forty-six. In 1922, it was advanced twelve years to over fifty-eight years.

At the Theatres

COLUMBIA Fate, as far as Ben Theatre Lyon is concerned, depends upon which street you walk through on your way to work. Ben, who is co-featured with Claudette Colbert in "I Cover the Waterfront," the United Artists romantic thriller, was on his way to work in New York one day when he happened to pass a motion picture studio upon which hung a sign announcing that "Extras" were needed. He walked in—he was very young then—and he has been at the business ever since.

DOMINION When the "talkies" Theatre and "singles" became popular several years ago, Alexander Gray was one of the first musical comedy stars to be asked to sing in Hollywood. His first assignment was in the talking picture version of "Sally," with Marilyn Miller. The handsome baritone resumes his screen work in "Moonlight and Pretzels," the Universal musical showing at the Dominion Theatre.

EMPIRE The earliest scene directed by Murphy ever directed was the fight between Undine and Belle, two Harlem beauties who scrap over Brutus Jones in "Emperor Jones," United Artists' presentation of Eugene O'Neill's famous play showing today at the Empire Theatre. The actresses playing the roles have been vying with each other for Robeson's favor, and when the script called for a real hair-pulling eye-scratching fight, the scene only needed Murphy's signal to begin.

SPLENDID PROGRAMME FOR QUARTETTE GROUP

A most delightful programme has been arranged by the Hart House Quartette for its concert here next Thursday, November 23, in the Empress Hotel.

Among the many presentations will be the "Quartette in D Minor," with four movements. This quartette is known as "Death and the Maiden" because of its slow movement, for which Schubert employed the melody of his song by that name. Another number will be the gay and vivacious "Quartette in B Flat Major," No. 9, by Mozart, also in four movements. This is one of Mozart's best known compositions, and is popularly known as the "Hunting Quartette." "Lord Gregory," by Alfred Pochon, and "Sir Roger de Coverley," by Frank Bridge, are additional numbers.

SACRED CONCERT AT CHAPEL ON SUNDAY

Edgar Holloway, well-known local organist, will present a programme of sacred and classical organ compositions, Sunday, at Sands Mortuary Chapel. Mrs. S. M. Morton will assist Mr. Holloway in presenting several solos.

This is the first public concert to be given at Sands Mortuary and the public is cordially invited to attend what is assured to be a pleasing programme.

"I'M NO ANGEL" TO BE HERE TOMORROW
 Dorothy Peterson, who was being featured on the New York stage at the same time Mae West was burning 'em up with her "Diamond Lil," plays a prominent role in Miss West's Paramount picture, "I'm No Angel," coming tomorrow to the Capitol Theatre.

Miss Peterson, who made her screen debut two years ago, has appeared in "Call Her Savage." "I'm No Angel," which was written by Miss West herself, is a story of circus and New York society life. Cary Grant, Edward Arnold, Gregory Ratoff, Gertrude Michaels and Kent Taylor have other principal roles in the picture, which was directed by Wesley Ruggles.

CHILDREN'S MATINEE AT CAPITOL TOMORROW

Tomorrow morning, at the Capitol Theatre, a special children's matinee will be held, commencing at 9:30 a.m. This is the second of children's Saturday morning entertainments to be given by the Capitol Theatre matinee club, and the enthusiastic reception which they have been accorded promises great success for the future.

The programme for tomorrow is specially selected for children, including Jackie Cooper and Robert Coogan in "Sooky," together with a comedy picture and a cartoon feature. Stage attractions will also be given.

IS DEPRIVED OF SUNDAY MEETING

Agricultural Ass'n Cancels Meeting Arranged by Joseph North—To Speak Wednesday

After completing all arrangements, and extensively advertising his meeting for Sunday evening at the Willows Horse Show Building, C. (Joseph) North, independent candidate in Victoria's delayed election, was notified yesterday by the board of directors of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, withdrawing permission granted Mr. North several weeks ago.

Mr. North, who had intended to turn the case proceed from the building and has fixed next Wednesday evening as the date for the meeting.

"I cannot see why I should have to pay for the building. It is a public building, built with public funds and the Sunshine Inn is also a public institution. The directors want $50 and I'm going to hold my meeting on Wednesday night if it costs a $100," Mr. North said.

"Fewer convictions for drunkenness." The figures are not so staggering.

"Creamy Chipso suds wash this printed rayon crepe WITHOUT ANY INJURY to the material or the color," says Mrs. Lay.

Safe Chipso washing has kept this silk frock NEW LOOKING for a full year.

"5—all girls—but it's not hard to keep them spruce with Chipso" says this serene young mother

In the big living room at the Lays', or under the trees in their back yard, five little girls are never at a loss for amusement. "My children do all the things that are hard on clothes," says Mrs. T. M. Lay. Yet this slim young mother isn't a martyr to their happy freedom. "My big washes are not hard to do," she says, "because CHIPSO soaks the grimy clothes clean."

No hard rubbing—no backaches—in a CHIPSO washday! And no regrets for faded colors or weakened materials!

"Since I began using Chipso for my wash our clothes seem to wear indefinitely," Mrs. Lay declared. "Dresses are handed down from one girl to the next. For, although Chipso loosens dirt so quickly, it isn't a bit harsh. Even silk stockings and glove silk underwear last longer with Chipso washings."

"One of the children's favorite rainy-day pastimes is to make a tent on the flat porch roof with my blankets. I could not permit this, if it were not so easy to get the blankets fluffy clean again with Chipso. I use Chipso for dishwashing, too, and to scrub tiled floors and linoleum. Chipso cleans like lightning, but it is as soft as a lotion on my hands."

Chipso is SOAPIER—that is why it is both quick and SAFE. It is not adulterated with harsh, "dirt-cutting" ingredients which warn you of their dangerous presence by the way they "sting" your hands. With a big box of Chipso from your grocer's this week, get your thrill from a snowy wash that you don't have to pay for with tired shoulders, sore hands, or "washed-out" looking clothes. At its modest price, you will find Chipso the biggest bargain in rich, safe soap that you have ever had.

FURNITURE WAS USED BY P.G.E.

Former Minister Replies to Comments—Willing to Debate Expenditures

Comment upon the expense of the furnishings of the Minister of Finance's office brought quick reply last night from W. A. McKenzie, former Minister of Mines, who pointed out that the original purchase of the most of the furniture was made by the Liberals. "I am surprised," declared Mr. McKenzie, "to find Hon. John Hart reported as commenting upon the manner in which his office is furnished, and doing so in such a way as to suggest that there was something wrong. As W. C. Shelly, who occupied the office when it was refurnished, is not here, and as I am sure that Mr. Hart would not like to deceive the public and will be ready and willing to correct the impression that his comment has created as soon as he is put into possession of the facts, I will briefly explain the circumstances.

CAME FROM P.G.E.

"When the Thomas administration took office, it was found that the carpet was well worn, and the furniture was also the worse for wear. It was found that there was in the office of a minor official a surplus of furniture, which had come there from the P.G.E.—purchased in the days of the lavish expenditure by the former Government on that road. The furniture was transferred to the Finance Minister's office. A new carpet was required. Mr. Shelly purchased the carpet—or rather, a fine rug—out of his own pocket. When he left office he naturally took the rug with him, and a carpet of moderate price was purchased. The only other purchases made were two chairs to match others salvaged from the P.G.E. surplus. The pictures were collected from other parts of the buildings.

"That is the story of the furnishing of the Finance Minister's office. If Mr. Hart would like to discuss other office expenditures—particularly in the days when he was in the Cabinet before, I will be pleased to meet him on the public platform on the subject."

As soon as the young man spoke she noticed the strange look in his voice.—From a Novellette.

This rather suggests that he opened his mouth and put his foot in it.

Letters to Editor

VICTORIA—A FREE PORT

Sir,—Referring to Mayor Leeming's recent remarks on Victoria's outrageous high, not to say confiscatory, rate of taxation, and consequent decrease lately in population, may I offer a suggestion that if carried into effect—and there is no ground for anyone here or elsewhere opposing it—would rapidly increase the population and sea and land trade of the city, and in a few years double the one and quadruple the other, enabling the taxation, if economy is practiced, to be cut in two.

This suggestion is to make Victoria a free port. There is no place on our Pacific Coast so well situated for the purpose. Trade with the Orient is bound to increase very rapidly, and Victoria can be made a great place for assembling and distributing. In no way can this hurt Canada or the Mainland of British Columbia. In fact it is all the other way.

If you, Mr. Editor, agree with my view, I leave it to you to make plain to your readers what such a free port is, and what great advantages it confers on the locality, the nation and the trading world. I believe it can be brought about by proper propaganda and at moderate cost. This is an exceptionally good time to urge and obtain it.

SMITH CURTIS.

Hotel Strathcona, Victoria, B.C., November 14, 1933.

THE GAME DEPARTMENT

Sir,—A new broom sweeps clean. This week the Liberal broom is expected to begin sweeping out deposits of dust, rubbish and cobwebs, which have accumulated during the past few years. In some cases where a broom is inadequate, a shovel and even an axe may be necessary. The first department to merit the axe is the game department. The abolition of this department was recommended by the Conservative convention held at Nanaimo, in November, 1931. The Kidd committee and many other committees, associations and individuals have pointed out its expense and uselessness. The upkeep of a provincial game warden, complete with revolver, snappy uniform, shining brass badges, great coat, motor car, gasoline, traveling expenses, brace of stuffed pheasants and umpteen sacks of naphthalene flakes, costs $2,500 per annum. The province is now supporting seventy-five of these expensive individuals. Administration costs another $20,000. One hundred local game wardens, at an annual retaining fee of $25 each, would cost the same as one of the existing provincial game wardens. They would have none of the accessories enumerated above, but would be far more efficient and far more popular. In addition all holders of registered trap-lines could be appointed honorary game wardens. The enforcement of the Game Act should be left to the police. Three matters are, however, urgent: (1) The restoration of bounties on cougar, timber wolves, coyote, wolverine, hawks and horned owls; (2) restoration to farmers and agriculturists of complete rights to protect their flocks and crops against vermin; (3) a four years' close season in the northern parts of the province on beaver, before this valuable animal becomes exterminated.

JOHN C. BOWEN-COLTHURST.

Sooke, B.C., November 14, 1933.

GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMIES

Sir,—In your editorial this morning, you perhaps unconsciously made some thought-provoking suggestions regarding the course of the new Government, towards which the public is looking with grave anxiety and greater expectation. It has been a debatable question for several years whether the number of Cabinet ministers should remain undisturbed or be reduced, the chief argument put forward being that of economy. As the editor of such an important "reflector of public opinion" and as the editor of the containing Government organ for the past five years, your contributions to the editorial columns have been accepted as paramount and as final as if written into the statute book.

The question of reduction in the number of Cabinet ministers or the reduction in their salaries, in the opinion of many of the readers of your paper, is not so important as the proper administration of the department under any particular minister's supervision. Ten thousand dollars a year for a man capable of disbursing $10,000,000 a year is so microscopical as to be negligible. A salary of $25,000 or even $50,000 a year to a man capable of, and having time to study all the ramifications of, say the Public Works Department, would save the province many times the amount of his emolument every year. This might be applicable to other departments.

It has been stated that one Cabinet minister could hold several portfolios. To persons conversant with private business administration and able to compare that with the administration of public affairs, impregnated with politics, such a statement would not be given serious thought.

The word "economy" has now become a household word and is being used by the public regardless of political persuasion. The most effective economy that could be profitably instituted at the present time would apply not so much to the larger expenditures as to the innumerable leakages in the various departments. Knowledge of this devastating condition may be apparent to those outside the confines of a newspaper office, where the vision is larger and longer, and this leads up to the pivotal point that if greater consideration were given by Cabinet ministers to suggestions offered by well-wishers of opposing political opinion the public would have greater confidence in the Government regardless of its political composition.

PROFESSOR ANGUS' LECTURE

Sir,—I also attended Professor Angus' lecture on "The Banff Conference on Pacific Relations," last Thursday night, but came away with entirely different impressions from those of your correspondent, Col. F. W. L. Moore. I do not think that the colonel does justice to the professor when he says that the lecture was "marred by doubts and made painful by pessimism." It seemed to me very evident that the situation so clearly stated by Professor Angus is indeed one which is not easy to solve, and if such a group of men as those chosen by the various countries, and congregated at Banff this year, were together unable to suggest a solution, it is neither fair nor reasonable to suppose that one individual, fully realizing the difficulties, should, independent of all others, suggest a remedy. Such doubt, honestly acknowledged, does not call for shame on the part of an individual, though it should cause international shame. Also, I did not understand Professor Angus to suggest that the possible solution of the problem by an international state would take "geologic periods of time" to achieve, but rather that "in geologic periods of time this state may be just around the corner; but in historic time it may be a hundred years hence."

Colonel Moore complains that the questioners "coloured" under the speaker's "unwavering hopelessness." Personally, I noted only two direct questions, both put by a lady who had taken the precaution to write them, and the replies given by the professor were as concise and to the point as the questions; but I did hear two or three short homilies which could call for no reply.

Did the colonel leave before Mr. Averill's appreciative comments? If so, he missed what appeared to some of us only constructive remarks made by any member of the audience. Professor Angus frankly did not attempt a solution, but left the problem with us. The suggestions given by one of the audience that Christian principles should solve the problem would, perhaps, be practicable if everyone could agree on a working definition of Christianity. While it is evident that this cannot be done, the problem remains unsolved.

Revellers Meet With Success in Forming Club at Vancouver

The Revellers Club, of Victoria, has been successful in its attempts to establish an affiliated club in Vancouver. While in session Wednesday night, the local club received the report that an executive had been chosen for the Vancouver organization, with two former Victoria members as president and vice-president.

George U. Clarke was chosen president, while A. Ellis Todd was elected vice-president. Jack L. Tyrer will act as secretary, and John A. Bell was named treasurer. To the position of publicity secretary, Horace J. W. Phillips was appointed. The charter of the Vancouver club was issued November 1.

Victoria Revellers, at their meeting, discussed plans with a view to commencing a membership drive. It was also decided to make an early start in arranging Christmas hamper for the needy.

A visitor walking in a mining district came upon an old man turning a windlass at the top of a shaft. It was a very hot day, but the old man had thrown aside his hat, and the sunshine was streaming upon his bare head. "If you expose your head to the sun in that way," said the traveler, "your brain will be injured."

But the old man looked wearily at the spectator, and shook his head. "If I had any brains I wouldn't be doing this all day long," he answered.

Then there was the married man who came home late, and as he pulled out the key wondered what he was letting himself in for.

W. K. VANDERBILT KILLED IN CRASH

Son of Famous New York Family Dies When Car Strikes Truck on Highway

RIDGELAND, S.C., Nov. 16 (AP).—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., twenty-six, son of a famous New York family, was killed here, yesterday, as his automobile, speeding from Miami to New York, struck a fruit truck parked beside the highway.

Erskine Bwyne, relative and companion of Vanderbilt on the trip, suffered only minor injuries, but J. W. Guppy, Vanderbilt's chauffeur, was taken to a Savannah, Ga., hospital in a serious condition.

Vanderbilt, officers said, was driving.

The young man had not fully recovered from effects of a previous automobile wreck. Only yesterday a bird flew through his windshield at Bunnell, Fla., and flying glass inflicted wounds which required medical attention.

Policemen Q. A. Nettles, who investigated today's wreck, said indications were Vanderbilt's machine was traveling in the neighborhood of seventy-five miles an hour when the crash occurred.

A "bean feed" has been arranged for the junior boys' swimming club, directly following the swimming period on Saturday, November 25.

The new class of practical mathematics, which commenced last Tuesday, is proving popular. Already fifteen members are enrolled. Classes are held every Tuesday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. The work is graded and instruction given to suit individual requirements.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT
By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A DOUBLE SQUEEZE
The importance of having a sound conception of double squeeze execution is suggested by the fact that I have heard of four or five hands involving this stratagem which have been played within the last few weeks by a small group who frequent two or three New York city clubs. In each case it was necessary to employ the squeeze in order that the contract might be made.

Among those I have seen recently is one played in a game composed of several of the more prominent younger experts who convene daily. By aggressive bidding one pair reached a slam contract, which was justified because there were two or three different fortunate breaks, any one of which would have meant that the contract would be fulfilled. In the final analysis the squeeze proved to overcome the necessity for depending upon either a finesse or a suit break.

North, dealer.
East and West vulnerable.

♠ 3 2	♥ 7 6 2	♦ A J 9 8	♣ A J 8
♠ 9 8 7	♥ 5 4 3	♦ K Q 10 6	♣ K Q 10 7 6
♠ 4 3 2	♥ A K 5	♦ A K 3	♣ K 6

The bidding:
South West North East

2♠	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♥	Pass	2NT	Pass
4NT	Pass	5NT	Pass
6♠	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the knave of hearts, which South won with the ace. Two rounds of spades showed that the suit had been divided 3-2, one of the breaks which was necessary. South led another spade, discarded a diamond from dummy, and East had the lead. East now led the king of diamonds, and dummy won the ace. It seemed hardly likely that the heart suit would break, in view of the opening, but if West held the only heart stopper on the fourth round, the squeeze should be a certainty. For it seemed very unlikely that East would lead the king of diamonds into dummy's A-J-9 unless holding the queen and ten as well. In this case East would have the only diamond higher than South's eight, and West the only heart higher than Dummy's seven, so that neither of them, if holding his stopper, would be able to retain more than one club when the hand had been stripped to two cards, and Dummy's knave of clubs would be established regardless of whether

East or West held the queen. South first tried for the heart break, of course, but when East showed out on the third round, he returned to his hand with the king of clubs and played out his three remaining trumps.

The squeeze was successful, as he had foreseen, and East was finally forced to unguard his queen of clubs, which dropped on the ace of clubs at the twelfth trick, establishing the knave of clubs for the thirteenth.

TOMORROW'S HAND
South is playing this hand at four spades. In what manner can he avoid the loss of a trump trick?

South, Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ Q 8 3	♥ 5 4	♦ K J 8 4 2	♣ 7 10 9 8
♠ 7 10 9	♥ A 5 3	♦ A 7 6 5	♣ K Q 10 8 2
♠ 4 3 2	♥ K 6	♦ A K 8 4 2	♣ R Q
♠ 10 6 3	♥ 10 6 3	♦ A 5 3	♣ 10 6 3

The hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

Action Against City of Calgary for Payment in U.S. Currency Discussed

CALGARY, Nov. 16 (CP).—Malden Trust Company's action against City of Calgary, an effort to secure payment of Calgary city debentures in United States currency, may not come to trial, it is indicated yesterday. The firm's headquarters are in Malden, Mass.

City Solicitor L. W. Brookington, C.C., is conferring with the trust company solicitors in an effort to reach some decision in the matter.

The company holds $5,000 worth of Calgary bonds. The bonds fell due January 1, last, but the city refused to meet payment in other than Canadian currency, the Malden firm starting court action to secure payment in United States funds.
